AN INVENTOR'S WRONG

in the hands of God, and to His will. The Mr. Henry Bessemer, the world-famous inventor of the Bessemer process of making steel, which has revolutionized the iron, trade of the world, contributes to the London Times a long story of his wrongs at the hands of the English government in return for valuable services rendered it by his inventive skill. The tale is interesting, and conveys a moral to inventors whose conscientious patriotism may tempt them to forget that governments of all kinds are apt to be ungrateful.

Mr. Bessemer, in his younger days, was as fertile in inventions as is Mr. Edison, though not in the same field. At the age of twenty, which was forty-live years ago, he description of the interview between Ali Musid is subtantially the same as reported. At the age of twenty, which was forty-five years ago, he discovered a process by which he could make a permanent die, even from a thin paper original, capable of producing a thousand copies of an embossed stamp such as is used by the government and in legal transactions. By this process the most valuable stamps could be counterfeited in tennionnes, at the cost of a few cents, and by the merest tyro, in such a manner as to utterly defy detection. The public knowledge of such a means of forging would, at that time, have utterly shattered the whole system of the British stamp-office. Alarmed at the possible consequences of his discovery, he abandoned further experiments in that direction, and buried the secret of the process in his own beest, where it has November 30.-The Daily News the following: Peshawur, Friday evenhighlanders, estimated to number four They cut off all stragglers and fire on armed parties. Texas Jack tossed the balls until he was evidently weary. Dr. Carver lost none of his accuracy but fired just as faultlessly as he had when fresh. a needed it at once. Mr. Murphy says that with him.

In corroboration of this, Colonel D. P. Hill swears that he was interested with Mr. Murphy in the fee, and that he went to Mr. Murphy on the day the fee was due, and asked hinrto see to it that the fee was collected that day; that Mr. Murphy did go and collect the money that day and did on that evening pay him his part of the fee.

Here, then, is the most indisputable evidence that in referring to the "old man," and to his partner, Mr. Murphy referred to Colonel D. P. Hill, and of course not to the governor. The best evidence upon this point is that of Colonel W. C. Morrill, who swears that he never had the impression or suggestion from Mr. Murphy that the governor was in any way interested in the fee, or that he was in any way cognizant of the contract between he and Murphy.

We learn that he explains the making of the contract with Murphy as follows: He says that the rolling mill was very badly crippled by the failure of the governor to indorse the bonds. The banks which had advanced to the rolling mill on these securities were demanding their money, and affairs were getting to be really desperate. He felt that if the bonds were not indorsed, the mill and its capitalists would suffer heavily, and he was ready to take any chances that provided any sort of a solution of the trouble. He reflected, too, that if the bonds were indorsed, he would be able to pay the fee demanded by Mr. Murphy and if they were not indorsed the mill would lose nothing. He therefore took the chances in the matter and closed the trade.

The commissioner of internal revenue discusses, at considerable length, the subject of illicit distilling in the mountain regions, those of Georgia included. He says there are in the mountains about 5,000 copper stills, which are lawfully used a part of the year and unlawfully the balance of their active period. They are conducted by determined men, and the situation is far from pleasant. But the commissioner is not without hope that the conditional amnesty system will produce good results. The collections for the fiscal year amounted to $110,654,280, and the commissioner thinks the revenue for the current fiscal year, if the rate of taxation is not disturbed, will not fall short of $115,000,000.

Atlanta and the New Capitol.

Many of our state exchanges are commenting upon the contract proposed by Atlanta for the building of a capitol. This is altogether superfluous and unmade about this. What we promised to do we proposed to do, and it is to be presumed that a mere reiteration of that promise is all that is necessary to stop the unnecessary discussion that has found its way into the newspapers.

The Labors of the Judges. We present elsewhere a tabular statement of the population and the amount of property in the different judical circuits. The legislature has refused to reduce the number of circuits, and it therefore becomes a very grave question as to how the different judges are to be relieved of their labors. Property and population are the basis of litigation, and it will be seen from the tables we have compiled that the judges of the superior courts have very unequal duties to perform. Our figures are made up from the census returns of 1870, but they are at least comparatively correct, and to this extent they are interesting and instructive. To those who care to look over the figures analysis will be useless; in fact, the analysis is made at the foot of each column. Nothing can more plainly show that the labors of the judges are badly divided-that their duties are unequal. This should be remedied. There is no reason why the judge of one circuit should be compelled to do more labor than the judge of another. The judicial duties should be equalized, and this is a matter which should control the attention of the legislature. Indeed, it is a matter that demands the attention of the people. While the pay of the judges is the same, their service is not the same. This is patent enough to any one who will read the tables presented elsewhere, To an ordinary mind, they would seem to be satisfactory, but in our republic we are compelled to satisfy extraordinary minds. lication of the tables we have given will tend to the equalization of the work of the judiciary.

The labor of white men on Indian reservations as much as possible to be disdefender of orthodox Christians, and passing into the hands of a defender of orthodox Mohammedans, the gleaming sabre is confusing. Who are infidels in Russian eyes? Who in an Afghansense? England is the protector of 230,000,000 Moslems, to Russia's 20,000.000, more or less. The "infidels" referred to on the sword can, therefore, have no connection with religion. To keep the Indians on their reservation and to prevent disturbance and conflicts the commissioner of Indian affairs recommends the organization of a mounted body of 'Indian auxiliaries,' to be drawn from the young men of the various tribes and to be under the command of the military authorities. He then reviews the events of the year n connection with the various tribes. The peaceful conduct of the Sioux during the year, he says, seems to justify the best hopes for the future. In regard to the outbreak of the Bannocks last summer. he admits that they were insufficiently supplied with food, which, however, was owing to the inadequacy of the congressional appropriation. Formerly they had supplied themselves in part by hunting, but being kept on their reservation on occount of the Nez Perce war they were deprived of that resource, and hence the inefficiency of the appropriation, the money available 'to feeding them amounting to 42 cents a day. This created discontent; then a murder of a white man was committed by an Indian. The Indian was tried and hung. The discontent grew. The military attempted to disarm them and then came the outbreak and its forcible suppression. The outbreak of 300 Cheyennes was not caused by hunger nor any neglect on the part of the government, but was due to a mischievous spirit among the Indians themselves and their determination to return north to their old hunting-grounds. How James G. Fair Became Po Thirty-Five Millions.

Philadelphia Record. medium-sized, quiet-looking gentle man, a genial countenance, long, grizzly whiskers tinged with gray, and a full crop of grayish black hair, somewhat inclined to url. Just such a looking man entered the Aldine hotel on Tuesday evening and wrote on the register, "James G. Fair, Virginia, Nevada," in a clear, bold hand. There was nothing ostentatious about the visitor. He were a plain tweed suit, with black tie and turned-down collar, while the only jewelry visible was a gold bar chain which stretched across his vest from pocket to pocket. There was nothing in the arrival's appearance to denote that he might be anything more than a contented country farmer. But appearance are described. all of which Mr. Fair has a reputed income of $500,000 a month.

Thirty-five years have elapsed since Colonel Fair first set foot on American soil. He was then only twelve years of age. His parents, who had previously been residents of county Tyrone, Ireland, came over with him. The family settled in Geneva, Ills., where James received such an education as where James received such an education as the common schools then afforded. From Geneva the family moved to Chicago, where the son went through a course of instruction at a business college. When the gold fever broke out in 1849 he went to the Pacific coast. Fortune favored him. He was appointed superintendent of the Ophir ming. At Virginia City, Nevada, in 1856, his coffers filled rapidly, and just prior to the war he invested largely in San Francisco real estate, and was the reputed possessor of seventy lots. Two years after his appointment to the Ophir mine he formed a partnership with Flood and Mackay. At the present time he is the superintendent of the three bonanza mines —Consolidated Virginia, Ophir, and California. His home is in Virginia City, where his wife and four children also reside, and it is said that never a day passes but what his wife and four children also reside, and it is said that never a day passes but wha he is down the shaft. The combined wealth of the three partners is estimated at $100 00,000, 70f which Colonel Fair's share in $35,000,000. The firm owns over $7,000,000 in Central Pacific first-mortgage bonds and in Central Pacific first-mortgage bonds and $18,000,000 in government four-per-cents.

Col. Fair and a Record reporter sat side by side on a settee in the Aldine reception room last night. The thirty-barrelled millionnaire had just come from Carneross & Dixey's opera house, whither he had gone, not in a millionnaire's dress suit, but in the same Scotch tweed raiment which he had worm on his trinto. Wilmington in the had worn on his trip to Wilmington in the morning.

The reporter suggested that in view of Colonel Fair's position, both as an owner of metal and solid cash, an expression of his opinion on the present financial issues might prove interesting. Colonel Fair passed his hand through his bushy whiskers, struck a helf-reclining attitude on the extrements.

opinion on the present financial issues night prove interesting. Colonel Fair passed his hand through his bushy whiskers, struck a half-recilining attitude on the settee, took another whiff of his cigar, and replied in a pleasant manner:

"Now, don't ask me anything about your financial issues, because I can't really talk on the subject. The fact is that I don't bother myself about it at all. I leave all that to my partners. They do the financiering, while I attend to the mines. I can talk about ores and assays and cross-cuts and anything connected with the mines, and that's about all. It is more than likely that half the people in this part of the country, two who are going crazy over the financial issues, don't understand the question any more than I do, and that's little or nothing. It would not do you much good to publish an interview with a man who knew nothing of what he was talking shout, would it?"

The reporter candidly confessed that it would not.

"Well, that's just about how I am situated," responded the gold miner. "The fact is that we people on the Pacific coast pay little attention to your currency disputes. We are a hard money people, and that is enough for us. Gold is our coin. Why, when we pay off our hands we use two wagon-loads of gold coin. You ought to see it placed upon the counter," and the millionaire's eyes twinkled. "All we know about your hard and soft-money fight is what is contained in our press dispatches, and it doesn't interest us much."

"What about the recent panic in mining shares?" queried the reporter.

"There is nothing unnatural in it," was the reply. "Shares went up in the belief that the cross-cuts on the new level of the Sierra Nevada and Union Consolidated were going to show wonderful results. The belief so far has not been realized, and, as a natural result, the value of stocks has receded. People talk about a preconcerted move in the interest of certain individuals. It is nothing of the kind so far as my knowledge is concerned. But, then, nothing of the kind ever ha od, if I live so long.

Fairbanks' Scales. Among the hundreds of American exhibtors at the International Exhibition at Paris, the Fairbanks firm is noticeable for the number and variety of the honors wor by its incomparable Scales and other specimens of manufacture. The firm has received seven Medals-the greatest number ever bestowed on a single exhibitor at one World's Fair. Two gold, two silver and one bronze medal were awarded for the Scales and a gold and bronze medal for the improved Type-writer and Oscillating Pump, It is safe to say that wherever this firm enters specimens of its manufacture, it is sure to secure the highest commendations.

The business of the representative hou in this city is steadily on the increase, and numbers of large scales have been sold in the last three months. It may be mentioned that the new elevator now being built at Canton will be furnished throughout with he Standard Scales of the world. Messrs Fairbanks & Co. have just filled an order from Washington for two of their celebrated Wagon Scales-one for the use of the Treas ury Department, and one for the use of the Washington Monument .- [ Baltimore News. November 21.

Mr. Vanderbilt of the New York Centra Railroad is now equipping his new elevator in New York with twenty 500 bushel Hopper Scales. Fairbanks is the standard or his roads. 578

LIVER PILLS

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint, DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver. DAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he comand sickness; the bowels in ger and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet exam-ination of the body, after death, has hown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged. AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN DR. C. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL. Hawkinsville Dispatch: On Tuesday morning last as a colored man was coming into Hawkinsville on the Haynesville road, he heard faint cries of a babe issuing from a pile of brush and leaves in a little field inside of the corporation. The man got over the fence, removed the brush, and discovered a roung babe, apparently born but a few hours, wrapped in some old rags. The man took the babe and brought it to the court house in Hawkinsville, when the sheriff, county judge and clerk were notified of the occurrence. Steps were at once taken to find the mother of the infant. A roung colored woman, Lettie Mayo, was suspected of being the mother, and Thos. L. Carruthers, county court bailiff, are entrusted with the duty of finding her and ascertaining the facts in the case. Mr. Carruthers took the babe in his buggy and proceeded to the plantation of Captain R. W. Anderson, where the woman was found at the house of her mother. When the woman was shown the babe she appeared pleased, took it to her bosom and nursed it. Shegave no reasons for her lack of motherly care for her offspring.

LIVER REMEDIES DR. M. W. CASE'S Liver Remedy BLOOD PURIFIER

This is not a patent medicine, but is prepared under the direction of Dr. M. W. Case, from his favorite prescription, which in an extensive practice of over twenty-seven years he has found most effective in all cases of disordered liver or impure blood. It is

Impure blood. It is

ANTI-BILIOUS.

It acts directly upon the liver, rectoring it when diseased to its normal condition; and in regulating the activity of this great gland every other organ of the system is benefited. In Blood Diseases it has no equal as a purifier. It improves diseases in the system; and another to eliminate all impurities from the system; and while it is the cheapest medicine in the market, it is also superior to all known remedies. While it is more effectual than Blue Mass, it is maid and perfectly safe, containing nothing that can in the dightest degree injur, the system. It does not clease or give pain; neither does it weaken the statent, nor leave the system constipated, as do most other medicines.

It CUPES Liver Complaint, Dys-leadache, Siek Headache, Water-Brash, Iteartburn, Siek Stomach, Jaundice, Colie, Vartigo, Neuralgia, Palpitation of the Heart, Female Irregularities and Weakness, all Skin and Blood Discusses, Worms, Fever and Ague, and Constipa-tion of the Bowels. In small doses it is also a sure cure for Chronic Diarrings.

In small doses it is also a sure cure for Chronic Diarrhesa.

Taken two or three times a day, it prevents Yellow Fever, Diphtheria, Searlet fever, Cholera, and Small-Poz.

HOW TO BE Use Dr. Case's Liver Hemedy and Blood Partier, a pleasant Tente and Cogdisi.

And save your doctor bills. Only 25 cts. a bottle it is the most effective and valuable medicineever offered to the American people. As fast as its merits become known, its use become universal in every community. No family with the without it after having once tested its greavalue. It has proved an inestimable blessing to thousands who have used it, bringing back health and strength to thous who were seemingly at death's door. THE GENUINE DR. C. McLANE'S Celebrated American WORM SPECIFIC

OR VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist, DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE will certainly effect a cure. IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent prepa ration, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

To the Citizens of Atlanta:

As it is well known to the most of you, and at the solicitation of many of you, I am a candidate for Mayor, and respectfully ask your suffrages. I have grown up with the city of Atlanta, and, to me, her soil and, her people are sarred. For her success I have, in the past, labored most earnestly, and in her prosperity I have rejoiced. Her merand in her prosperity I have rejoiced. Her mercantile, manufacturing, mechanical and professionai interests, and all her institutions, are dear to me and will recieve my warmest encouragement. It elected I pledage that the best efforts of my life shall bedevoted to her interests, and that, so far as my power goes, there shall be an honest administration of the laws, a full observance of the rights of all the people of all classes, and an economical management of the finances of the city, and, while keeping in view these cardinal principles, I would have our city keep pace with the progress of the age in all that tends to build up a great city and clevate its people,

J. W. English Announces for Mayor To the Voters of Atlant—aAt the solicitation of a considerable number of chizens, i have consented to become a candidate for Mayor, and I now announce my candidate for Mayor, and I now announce my candidate for Mayor, and I now announce my candidate for that position.

Having been a member of the City Council, and Chairman of the Finance Committee, for the past two years, I think I have become sufficiently familiar with the city's wants and necessities to to be able to discharge the duties which devolve upon the Mayor of the city acceptably to the people.

Weeps constantly on hand the lateral Cases, Case Ts. point the shaper of the city acceptably to people.

I shall, if elected, endeavor to foster a system of rigid economy in all our expenditures, so that we may hope, in a reasonable time, for a reduced rate of taxation. I shall, as a matter of pride, strive also to maintain our reputation as a live and progressive people.

In pursuance of these objects, I promise you, if elected, whatever of ability and energy I possess shall in the future, as in the past, be faithfully and untiringly devoted to the development of the material interests and prosperty of our city. Very respectfully,

JAMES W. ENGLISH.

The hour of 11 o'clock having arrived, the order for the day was taken up, which was a bill to authorize appeals from the verdicts of juries, and from confessions of judgments in the superior courts, and to provide for the same, and for other purposes.

The judiciary committee, who had this bill under consideration, reported adversely to the passage of the bill.

A motion was made to disagree to the action of the committee, and the bill was made the order for to-day.

Mr. Preston discussed the question at some little length, in a motion to disagree to the majority report of the committee.

The question was further discussed by Messrs. Cumming and others, when Mr. Harrison called for the previous question.

The question was further discussed by Messrs. Cumming and others, when Mr. Harrison called for the previous question.

The call being sustained, the main question was put, to wit: The motion of Mr.

Preston to disagree to the report of the committee on the judiciary.
The motion to disagree did not prevail, and the bill was therefore lost.
Mr. Preston gave notice of an intention to move a reconsideration of the action of the senate on the above bill. REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

on motion of Mr. Howell the rules were suspended, and he, as chairman of the senate committee of conference, reported on the bill of the senate in relation to the method of giving notice of intention to introduce local and special measures into the general assembly, making the following report:

The majority of the conference committee recommend the following amendment as a The majority of the conference committee recommend the following amendment as a substitute for the amendment heretofore adopted by the house: "Provided, that where there is no newspaper published in the county where the local legislature is asked, notice of said bill shall be published in the papers where sheriff's sales are published, and in all notices to be published under this act, if shall not be lawful for any newspaper, to charge more than 31 per
